Senior Day Attendance Smashes All Past Records

333 REGISTERED FOR NINE WEEKS

Registration Deadline Is Saturday

Registrar E. H. Canon reported late yesterday that 333 students have registered for the spring term of nine weeks beginning Monday of this week. Several others may register, Mr. Canon said, before the deadline for spring term enrollment on Saturday.

This brings the total enrollment for the semester in the college to 1,839.

A majority of the students registering this week are juniors and seniors who expect to be graduated in the June or August classes this year. Most of them are teachers whose school terms have just closed.

New Teachers Employed

In order to take care of the increase in enrollment during the spring term, several teachers have been employed. Earl Hale, M. A., University of Indiana, will teach in the department of history; K. C. Spaulding, M. A., Peabody College, economics; William Owsley, who has been away for additional graduate study at the Ohio State University, will teach in the department of biology during the spring term.

Within the next two or three days one additional teacher in the department of geography will be employed.

Glee Club Slates Concerts At Home And On Two Tours

A partial schedule of the concerts to be given by the Men's Glee Club at Western has just been released. It includes participation in three chapel programs besides one entire chapel period on either May 18 or 25.

Also scheduled are two trips to Western Kentucky high schools. The first of these will be on May 12 and 13 when Hartford, Owensboro, Henderson, Morganfield, Sturgis, Princeton, and Cadiz will be visited by the club.

The schools to be included in the other tour have not been announced, and dates for the first are tentative, remaining subject to change or cancellation.

Kendall Bryant is president of the group, which is under the direction of Prof. Chester Channon.

A Cappella Choir Broadcasts Next Thursday at KEA

The college a cappella choir, a selected group of forty voices, will broadcast over WHAS on Thursday, April 14, from 1:00 to 1:30 p. m. The group will sing a group of sacred songs, a group of spirituals, and, if copyright difficulties can be cleared up in time, will sing "Three Grecian Songs," the prize-winning composition of Prof. John N. Vincent, who directs the choir.

The group will sing again at the KEA general session on Thursday evening at the Memorial Auditorium in Louisville.

THE HERALD WISHES TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO welcome you high school seniors to the Hill. There is little that can be said here which will not be said many times today by individuals; but the Herald, representing the voice of the students as a whole, has a special reason for greeting you at this time.

Today is a special day on the Hill, special programs have been arranged for your entertainment, you will be taken on tours, feted. In short, today is a sort of holiday.

What the Herald brings you is a tour of the Hill on those days just preceding today, those events immediately after today. Only a small part of its space is devoted to today. Most of it deals with what students on the Hill are doing day after day throughout the year.

You want to enjoy your visit today, see as much of the campus as possible while you are here. But after that you want to know something of the regular activities on the Hill. The annual spring play of the Western College Players was given last night; the college debate team debated last night and will debate again tonight; the band, the chorus, the glee clubs, all are busy with their regular programs; the college annual, the Talisman, is in the midst of its composition and its sales campaign; a group of geography students returned Sunday from a tour; the college is just completing a series of radio programs for the year—all these and more you may read about in the Herald today.

A college, at work, a college at play—that is what the Herald brings to you.

So on your tour of the Hill today note some of the places where these activities occur. Then you will not wonder why students are proud of this campus, why they work here for four years, why they come back here to spend their vacations. While you are here today, we hope you may get something of that thrill of possession which these Western students have when they speak of "the Hill."

Capacity House Sees 'Aged 26,' Historic Drama

Playing to a near capacity house of approximately 1,000 play enthusiasts, perhaps the largest audience ever to attend an amateur dramatic presentation in Bowling Green, the Western College Players closed their regular season last night with the presentation of "Aged 26," the poignant story of the last few months of the life of John Keats, in Van Meter auditorium on the Hill.

Completely submerging himself in the role of the poet, Paul Smith, senior from Louisville, took all-time character portrayal honors for Western amateur drama. Except for a few points where the role was a bit overacted, he presented John Keats as faithfully as he could be reproduced through the imagination of a writer and of an actor.

In rehearsal for five weeks, the play was in most respects the most finished production that the players have ever attempted. Presented in the original costumes used by the players who enacted the story of Keats' life on the New York stage, played against the background of a stage setting fitted to the time and the mood of the drama, "Aged 26" is destined to go down in the history of the players, not only as their most ambitious attempt but as the most satisfying an entertainment.

It was directed by Prof. J. Reid Sterrett.

Fanny Bravne in the play was enacted by Mary Virginia Hodge, who has played in the group's productions in the past, and who profited by this experience in giving an altogether convincing portrait. And Zach Hill, cast as Charles Armitage Brown, friend of Keats, is the urbane gentleman, almost unbelievably genuine in his concern for Keats' health, and for his life when he finds Keats in despair.

Fitting into the background of the play as famous characters of the age were W. L. Matthews, playing John Taylor, Keats' friend; Richard Oxman, playing Joseph Severn, the artist; John

DEBATERS MEET MURRAY TONIGHT

Contest Slated For 7:30 In Snell Hall

Smarting from two defeats in a row, a Congress Club Debate team will meet debaters from Murray here in Snell Hall auditorium tonight at 7:30, discussing the advisability of allowing the National Labor Relations Board to enforce arbitration of industrial disputes.

Debaters who will represent the Congress Debating Club will be Elbert Taggart and John Welch. Murray will probably be represented by Robert Miller and John Brinn.

In the encounter with the Eastern team here April 1, Welch and Taggart, representing the Congress Debaters, were defeated 2-1 in their effort to uphold the affirmative side of the question. They will defend the affirmative again tonight.

Against Miller and Brinn April 1 at Murray, Ray Logan and Alvin Trigg of the Senators were defeated in their effort to attack the affirmative case presented by the Murray team.

On Tuesday, April 13, here Trigg and Logan will meet Eddie Hicks and John Busby, undefeated Union University debaters. Trigg and Logan will again take the negative side.

Earlier in the season Taggart and Welch were defeated by the Union team at Jackson, Tennessee.

COMPLETION OF TALISMAN NEAR

Part Of Material Goes To Printer

With the completion of club and class organization pictures for the 1938 Talisman scheduled next Tuesday, the annual is moving into the final stages of preparation for the printer.

One hundred thirty-two senior pictures have already been sent to the engraver, J. C. Cantrell, Jr., editor of the yearbook said yesterday, and the photographs of the feature group are to be mailed to the engraver this week. Pictures of incoming seniors who expect to graduate in June or August should be made at once, he indicated. The deadline for all pictures is April 13.

Sixteen pages of the book have already been sent to the printer, the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, and others are in the process of completion.

The year book is to contain 152 pages this year, sixteen of which are to be used for a lithographed feature section, an innovation this season.

Irene Groves To Be Featured In Annual, Communique Says

TITLE UNDISCLOSED 12 To Be Introduced At Dance

In an "unofficial" communique issued this morning from the office of the Talisman, yearbook of the senior class, it was revealed that Irene Groves, 23, senior from Mitchellville, Tennessee, is to be introduced as one member of the Talisman feature section of the dance scheduled in the gymnasium from 8:30 to 12 this evening.

Eleven other members of the feature group to be presented at the dance were not revealed.

Among the twelve to be presented are eight representatives of the four class organizations, two all-campus beauties, the senior having the highest academic standing at the end of the fall semester, and a "mysterious young lady," title unrevealed.

The report of Miss Groves' appearance was "accidentally" included in a statement given a Herald reporter at 4 a. m. today. This communique stated that the eight class representatives are those selected in class organization votes a month ago. The all-campus beauties were also selected by student vote.

Admission to the dance tonight, where the entire list will be disclosed, will cost Western students fifty cents per person if they do not have a Talisman reservation receipt, twenty-five cents per person with a reservation receipt.

High school seniors will be admitted for fifty cents per couple, Talisman Editor J. C. Cantrell, Jr., said.

Chaperones for the dance are to include President and Mrs. Paul Garrett, all heads of departments, the sponsor of the senior class, and one or two other members of the faculty. Music will be furnished by the Red and Grey Orchestra.

The feature group will be introduced by Marvin Baker, faculty sponsor of the Talisman.

HAYS PRAISES OGDEN SPIRIT

Discusses History Of College

"The spirit of Robert Ogden, commingled with the spirit of Henry Hardin Cherry, will live on and bless the childhood of America," concluded Mr. J. M. F. Hays in his Ogden Founders' Day address at chapel here April 1.

Characterizing Major Ogden as a great believer in freedom, Mr. Hays traced the history of his college from its founding in 1877 to its merger with Western in 1928. He pointed out the provisions of the will of Major Robert Ogden which made possible the founding of the college, which is now under lease to Western.

Speaking of distinguished sons of Ogden, Mr. Hays mentioned Dr. A. T. McCormack of the State Health Department, the late Frank Thomas, minister, Admiral Claude Bloch, commander of the United States Navy, and Walker Hines, former director general of American railroads.

The program, presided over by Dr. Ward C. Sumpter, president of the Ogden Alumni Association, included a vocal solo by Myrtle Page and a piano solo by Helen Hancock.

WESTERN TO CLOSE FOR KEA

Western closes next Wednesday, after the last classes for the day, for the annual meetings of the KEA in Louisville. Classes will be resumed again on the following Monday.

Irene Groves, above, will be presented at the Talisman dance this evening as a member of the Talisman feature section of 1938. A native of Mitchellville, Tennessee, Miss Groves, who is majoring in home economics, has spent four years on the Hill. She was named Miss Sophomore in 1930, and in 1937 was elected sponsor of Company C of the Western ROTC unit and was a member of the Talisman feature section of that year.

No definite program can be announced for the Vanderbilt concert, as the Vanderbilt Chorus has not sent the information as yet. The Western group which will go to Nashville will be larger than the a cappella choir which will sing in Louisville next week. Transportation for the group will probably be by automobile.

Advance acceptances totaling 3,671 late yesterday indicate that a crowd of visitors in excess of 4,000 is attending the opening program today.

Everything on the day's calendar is devoted entirely to the guests of honor, the high school seniors. The morning program is slated to begin with an assembly at 9:30 o'clock in the Physical Education Building where a general program starting at 10:00 o'clock will follow.

A picnic lunch is to be served at 11:30 in front of the stadium colonnade. In case of inclement weather the luncheon is scheduled for Van Meter Auditorium.

Today's program marks the fifth consecutive time in as many years that High School Senior Day at Western has set a new attendance record. FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1938

"IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE" MIGHT WELL BE the title of the following item clipped from THE CRIMSON RAMBLER, student publication of Transylvania College, Lexington; and because of this fact, it provides the Herald with a firing pin for a double-barreled statement on conditions on the Hill which make such an incident impossible here.

In a front page column a member of the editorial staff of the RAMBLER states: "Perhaps some of you do not understand why the news of 'Monk' Simons' resignation was given to the town papers before it was announced in the Rambler. In order to clear up any misunderstanding on the matter, and to accredit the coach for what we would term a very noble gesture, we wish to make known to the student body that 'Monk' sent for the Rambler editor immediately after he was informed of the possibility of securing his new position, so that the Rambler might 'scoop' the Herald and Leader. We were, however, regrettably unable to publish last week, and it remained for the Sunday town papers to be the first with the news. Well, anyway, thanks, 'Monk,' for your thoughtfulness."

Now for the reasons why this "can't happen here."

In the first place, how many times does anyone on the Hill make any effort to give the Herald a "scoop" on the papers down town? The Herald does not give its support to any mad "right or wrong" super-patriotism, but it does support and even seek occasions to lend its support to any worthwhile activity on the Hill. It does not and will not seek any support which it does not merit as a newspaper representing the college and giving its best efforts to that representation.

But it cannot refrain from pointing out that some of those who adopt the super-patriotic attitude toward other activities on the Hill utterly ignore the fact that the Herald is the student newspaper of the Western Kentucky State Teachers College and that, as such, if for no other reason, it is entitled to some consideration from all news sources on the Hill.

It is true that the Herald is not able to make a complete canvas of all possible news sources on the campus; but the editor of the Herald has a telephone at his home—though not in his office—and, in spite of the fact that he gets little enough sleep, would be glad to be called any time when an important story is ready to "break."

That there is another side to the story in many cases, however, the Herald has been the first to admit. This is the second unsatisfactory state of affairs which, in some measure at least, accounts for the first.

This is the fact that where the RAMBLER, quoted above, rarely misses a weekly issue, the Herald regularly misses every other week. And even "scoops" sometimes grow cold in a fortnight. This is not an alibi for all of the lack of consideration mentioned above, but it does indicate that the semi-monthly status of the Herald is one reason for its inability to "scoop" the papers in town on important news on the Hill.

It may be news when a man bites a dog; but when the story is two weeks old, it isn't "news." It's a subject for a thesis.

The Herald needs a little more cooperation; but that, undoubtedly, would be treating the symptoms rather than the cause. Even more acute than the need for cooperation is the need for weekly editions. Western needs a weekly College Heights Herald.

'TRAVELING' STUDENT ENROLLS HERE

Will Havey, most traveled of the new students arriving on the campus for the spring term of nine weeks, blew into Bowling Green about ten days ago with money to spare after traveling all the way from his home in North Sullivan, Maine, on the "princely sum" of $1.75.

How did he do it? Well, you might ask him, but the answer of course is obvious, he hitch-hiked.

Contacting Registrar E. H. Canon, he informed him of his ambition to enter Western. He was a bit puzzled about the manner of hitching when it comes to college enrollment.

Mr. Canon was puzzled, too. But they managed it, or have just about got it figured out. Havey's greatest ambition now is to get a part time job to pay his expenses. After that trip, it should be easy as swimming is to a duck.

NINE GAMES ARE ON TENNIS CARD

Meet Cumberland University in First Tilt

Nine games with teams from two states will comprise the Western 1938 tennis wars. The team, which has been practicing for the last two weeks under the direction of Ralph Dudgeon, last year's number one player, will draw first blood against Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tenn., the 29th of this month on the local courts and will complete the season at Murray May 23.

With three of last year's players back, and several new comers in the ranks, the outlook for the team is very good. The players returning from last year's squad are Capt. Ralph Dudgeon, who will probably hold down the number 1 spot, Paul Smith of Louisville and Basil Powell of Henderson. Those seeking starting places on the team are Alvin Trigg, Hopkinsville; Bob Fay and J. Kahn, Louisville and Willard Winkenhof, Harold Keen, G. A. Willoughby, and Bill Daniels, all of Bowling Green.

Capt. Dudgeon, who was defeated only once in last year's matches, has been acting as coach in place of Ed Stansbury. The complete schedule, including tentative bookings, follows:

April 29—Cumberland U.; here.
May 3—Murray, here.
May 6—Eastern; here.
May 13—Centre, here.
May 14—Cumberland U., Lebanon, Tenn.
May 20—Centre, Danville.
May 21—Eastern, Richmond.
May 23—Murray, there.

positions are Kahn, Trigg, and Winkenhof.

Captain Dudgeon, who stroked from the port side, has held down the Number 1 position for the past two years, and during that time has lost only two matches. The famous Texan, "Doc" Barr, who for many years was a top-notch in national play downed him in a three set match here last spring. The other defeat came at the hands of Charlie Coleman, Centre College ace, who was, for several years, ranked as the top performer in intercollegiate circles in Kentucky. Dudgeon defeated Coleman in 1936 in a match here, and in the opinion of most observers would have repeated the feat here last season had not Centre failed to put in appearance for their match.

The Hilltoppers' first match according to tentative arrangements will be against Cumberland University, April 29, on the local courts.

MAKE DIAMOND DEBUT MONDAY

Hilltoppers Open Here Against Illinois

Western's baseballers will make their 1938 debut Monday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. on the local diamond when they engage the Northern Illinois Teachers College nine.

With their practice sessions interrupted frequently during the past two weeks because of inclement weather, the Hilltoppers will be in only mediocre shape for their first test. Five veterans in George Bibich, Albert Mitchell, Vick Smith, Henry Cooper, and Jim Glover form a nucleus around which Coach Ed Diddle will build his team this season. With Bibich and Mitchell patrolling the outer pastures will be Wells Heath, a promising sophomore gardener from Paducah. This trio will give the Hilltoppers one of the hardest-hitting outfield combinations seen here in recent years.

Only Cooper, veteran third sacker, is a certainty on the infield. John Magda at short, and Wilbur Spauld at the initial corner appear to have the inside track at those positions. The battle for the second base post, however, is still wide open. Lucien Adams, Woody Reed, and George George, being among the candidates.

The return of Vick Smith, local receiver, has considerably bolstered the Western battery. Tom Byrd, a newcomer to the Western nine, and Horace Knight will share the catching assignments with Smith. Herb Ball, a junior from Chicago, and Bob Yates, local portlander, round out the Western mound corps.

No information is to be had concerning the strength of the Illinois team but there is every indication of a close battle. "Dizzy" Jim Glover, veteran right-hander, will more than likely get the starting assignment in Monday's test.

The remainder of the schedule follows:
April 19—University of Louisville, here.
April 22—Vanderbilt, Nashville, Tenn.
April 23—Vanderbilt, Nashville, Tenn.
April 26—Tennessee Poly, here.
May 7—Eastern State Teachers, Richmond.
May 10—Austin Peay, Clarksville, Tenn.
May 19—University of Louisville, Louisville.
May 13—Vanderbilt, here.
May 14—Vanderbilt, here.
May 21—Eastern State Teachers, here.
May 24—Austin Peay, here.
May 27—Tennessee Poly, Cookeville, Tenn.

To Meet Toledo Mud Hens In Opener

The Indianapolis Indians and the Toledo Mud Hens, both of the American Association, will meet at the fairgrounds here Wednesday afternoon, April 13, according to Kelly Thompson, former vice-president and publicity director of the Indianapolis club, who with Vick Smith, manager of the Bowling Green team, is sponsoring the game.

The game here will take place three days before the American Association opening and should find the two teams in the pink of condition following their training seasons in Florida. Both teams will arrive in Bowling Green at 8 o'clock in the morning and will have their headquarters at the Helm Hotel.

Accompanying the squads here will be a number of newspapermen and in all probability the owners of both teams, Norman A. Perry of Indianapolis and Waldo Shank of Toledo. Mr. Thompson stated that there is a probability that George Trautman, president of the American Association, and Frank Colley, who is in charge of league publicity, would also attend the game.

The Toledo team was one of the outstanding teams in the Association race last year, having battled into the final weeks of play before being dropped out of the pennant race. Toledo was one of the 4 teams in the American Association play-off following the close of last season.

GRISE ATTENDS DALLAS MEET

600 Southern Educators Present

Dean F. C. Grise attended the forty-second annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools from Monday, March 28, to Friday, April 1, at Dallas, Texas. Approximately 600 men and women from the colleges and high schools of the southern states attended the meet.

Aside from the important meetings of the Commissions on Secondary Education and Higher Education, there was an annual banquet Thursday evening, at which the association president's address was delivered.

Reverend Matthew Arnold, Cleburne, Texas, delivered a speech entitled "2:00 A. M." It was an unusual and challenging address in which the speaker pointed out that the darkest hours were just before dawn, and that looking into the future he believed that the world just now was at 2:00 a. m. and that what happened to civilization and society would depend upon the faith, the ideals, and the attitude of the intelligent people of the world today.

Two general sessions of the meet were devoted largely to matters of business: Reports of committees, resolutions, and elections of officers.
